While the Arts are the mirror of the entire Journey of humanity; the Arts are also ways to question and to discover, while searching for new ways to express, to resist, to act...

Expressing a unique and subjective point of view is an ethical and esthetical imperative at once. MB all reality that knows itself knows also the other that is not her" ... Jules de Gaultier

I cannot imagine that the artist could remain an indifferent spectator, refusing to take an option. (...) Being engaged means, for an artist, to be inserted in its social context, be the blood & flesh of the people, experience the problems of his country with intensity and testify. Aimé Césaire

The arts do not replace science, and are not reducible to the concerns of the sciences, but they are part of the process of enhancing creativity and imagining new futures. Prof. Luiz Oosterbeek

A research artist, curator, with a Master in fine arts from the Tisch-School, in NYU. New York.
Affiliated research artist to the Polytechnic Institute of Tomar in Portugal, in Techart.

As the founder-director of the project Memoire de l'Avenir (MDA) – Humanities-Arts-and-Society (HAS), I collaborate with UNESCO-Most and The-International-Council-for-Philosophy-and-Human-Sciences (CIPSH),and with the Académie of Paris, the Region-Ile-de-France, DRAC, and many other public and private institutions and with private and public intuitions (see HERE) . For example, among others are the Prefecture of Paris, the Academy of Paris, the City of Paris, the City of Jerusalem, the National Agency Against Racism (LICRA), the Foundation Pour la Memoire de la Shoah, and others. Exhibited internationally in group and solo-shows.

Since 1984, she has set up multidisciplinary arts events and conferences in the USA, Europe, Africa, Asia, and the Middle East, promoting, through the arts, a better knowledge of cultural diversity and fostering intercultural dialogue.

She is the author of multiple essays, and, with Patricia Creveaux, of the book From Drawing To Symbol: A Grammar For Humanity, published by Alternative in 2010. In addition to the scholars, artists and institutions with whom she has collaborated, she has also cooperated with Musée du Quai Branly, Centre George Pompidou, Musée de Louvre, Dapper, Musée d'Art et d'Histoire de Judaïsme, the Institutes de Monde Arab, Musée de l'Homme, etc.

All human actions are based upon cultural, social, and ethical constructions of knowledge, of interpretations, of engagements and of awareness. The arts, allied with all fields of sciences, are part of the process of enhancing creativity and imagining new futures, seeking to connect global problems with emerging local solutions. The aims of HAS are not simply to echo existing concepts, nor to re-produce artistic projects that examine issues of importance — on inequality, conflicts, migrations, bio diversities, climate issues...but rather to contribute to new schemes and activities of resilience, anchored in the humanities and in the arts. Arts and artists bridge the gaps between people, continents, cultures, civilizations, and time.

MB in JENA Declaration 2021

STATEMENT

As a research-artists, I was always inspired by artists and personalities engaged in reflection and multi-disciplinary work on crucial topics and righteousness concerning all beings, I founded the organization Memoire de l'Avenir, and together with UNESCO—MOST and The International Council for Philosophy and Human Sciences—CIPSH, we created the Humanities, Arts & Society project-HAS. HAS is a collective of artists, project holders and scholars, from all region of the world, transcending locations or personal differences, illustrating and enhancing understanding of realities, of limits, of cultural references and of symbols, of languages, of ethics and of aesthetics.

All human actions are based upon cultural, social, and ethical constructions of knowledge, of interpretations, of engagements and of awareness.

To me;

The arts, allied with all fields of sciences, are part of the process of enhancing creativity and imagining new futures, seeking to connect global problems with emerging local solutions.

Our aims are not simply to echo existing concepts, nor to re-produce artistic projects that examine issues of importance — on inequality, conflicts, migrations, bio diversities, climate issues ... but rather to contribute to new schemes and activities of resilience, anchored in the humanities and in the arts. Arts and artists bridge the gaps between people, continents, cultures, civilizations, and time. ... The arts mirror the entire journey of humanities, ever since.... It is an on-going research into the nature of beings and of the world: questioning, thinking, proposing and producing ... illustrating the roads from nature to cultures. Nowhere on earth do people exist without language, without art, or without culture. Sharing knowledge leads to a deepening of our understanding of ourselves and of the world, and incite the responsibility of each to act and to participate.

Artists provide new ways to discover, to influence, to provoke, to propose and to perform.

IN DETAILS

2003 – Founding Director of Mémoire De l'Avenir – Arts and Society. A non-profit non secular and non-political organization- declared in the prefecture of Paris on 05052003

An artistic and cultural resources beyond geographic and disciplinary boundaries.

Mémoire de l'Avenir (MDA) is a non-profit association that works with artists and researchers from all disciplines in France and abroad in a process of collective, active and creative reflection on important issues that cross our societies and their environments, encouraging dialogue, freedom of thought and expression around societal themes such as secularism, citizenship, respect for differences, similarities and universal issues

Mémoire de l'Avenir – The Humanities arts and Society (MDA-HAS) Project include

- Research and Resources
- Arts in dialogue and in education
- Workshop training and sharing of knowledge between artists, projects holder, scholars, decision makers and societies
- Artistic and Cultural Events, Debates, ETC.
- Digital Platform, acting without borders
- multi and transdisciplinary cooperation
- HAS Magazine
- BEING traveling mobile events

The mission of the Humanities, Arts and Society (HAS) Project is to establish a worldwide movement of artists, scholars and project holders whose creative work and ideas will demonstrate the impact of the arts and of creativity on society, promote global understanding and collaboration, and contribute to the debate within the humanities regarding universal issues. Hence, human actions are based upon cultural, social, and ethical schemes of knowledge, interpretation, engagement and awareness. The UNESCO Humanities, Arts and Society project supports multidisciplinary cooperation between various fields of research and the arts as part of the process of enhancing creativity and imagining new futures.

2016- Humanities, Arts and Society (HAS) founded by UNESCO-MOST (John Crowley),
The International Council for Philosophy and Human Sciences (CIPSH – Luiz Oosterbeek) and Mémoire de l'Avenir (Margalit Berrie), in partnership with other institutions.

« Il y a des peintures de silence ; celle de Margalit est un cri. C'est le cri du couple qui se trouve ou se sépare, de la femme qui accouche et de l'enfant qui vient ou monde. Plaisir, douleur, angoisse, espoir sont mêlés. La vie circule visiblement dans les corps puissants des personnages, mettant en évidence leurs organes vitaux, leur sexe, leur réseau sanguin. Elle court dans la végétation exubérante qui surgit partout ; elle anime les animaux familiers ou fabuleux qui passent ici et là » 1990/Artension/Marie Odile Andrade
